Ten Cents

The DIMMER VIEW

by Max Goodwin

Don Quixote at the Oil Well

If you think the oil companies are not ripping you off, test good logic on this:

A rollback of $1.19-a-barrel on crude oil from $8.75 to $7.66 goes into effect February 1.

The Federal Energy Administration said it should cut the cost of gasoline at the pump by about two and a half cents a gallon.

Oil companies have said there would be no reduction because other costs will have absorbed the anticipated reduction to the consumer.

Conversely, when crude is raised as little as 50 cents a barrel, it shows up at the pump as a several-cents-a-gallon increase.

Earlier, U.S. Senator John Tunney, in one of his more lucid positions, announced that he was going to introduce new Senate oil anti-trust legislation.

"Billions of dollars are being gouged from the American people by the big oil companies, and every effort thus far to stop it has failed," he said.

"An unholy alliance between oil oligopolies and big government has brought on the present crisis—pushing up the price of gasoline to fill the coffers of the oil producing nations and the big oil companies at the expense of the American taxpayer," he said.

He proposes to break up domination of the major oil companies in the four phases of the petroleum industry—production, transportation, refining and marketing. His measure would permit one company to participate in both refining and marketing—but in no other combination of the elements.

We wish him more luck with this proposal than he has had with some of his others.

We wish him luck but the feeling persists that he is jousting with windmills.

Fun and Publics

The political season is off and running. Candidates, now, are bright and interesting.

After the primary the finalists often become grim. But the lighter side comes through at this stage.

Example: Mike Bollman, the area attorney announcing his candidacy for the 77th Assembly seat at a conference last week at the San Diego Press Club led off with a couple of quickies that may make the Milton Berle Show.

Said Bollman, "Did you hear about the politician who admitted that he lied—but nobody believed him?"

Then referring to his pro-prosecution reputation... "Someone asked me what I thought of the Indianapolis 500 and I said 'I think they're guilty'."

Youth and Energy

Dr. Robert Sutton, superintendent of the Lemon Grove School District announced recently that Lemon Grove's oldest school building—the one at School lane and Lincoln—which is now used for storage—would soon be demolished because it didn't meet current state earthquake requirements.

He said that a demolition firm had offered to do the job for $7,000 but the economy being what it is the district's maintenance crew would be put on the job.

Then someone offered a suggestion that he thought over only momentarily before turning it down.

The idea: Turn all the students from adjacent Lemon Grove Junior High loose in the building for two schools days in a row without restraint.

"No," said the superintendent, "we'll use the maintenance crew. We want to salvage the lumber."

Ronald Reagan Says:

On Courts: "I sometimes think if someone appealed the Ten Commandments to some of our courts, they would rule—'Thou shalt not, unless you feel strongly to the contrary.'"

Joseph R. Holmes "The Quotable Ronald Reagan" Speech, May 18, 1973

Population Forecast Shows North Big Gainer

Lemon Grove's average family decreased in size from 3.17 persons a family to 2.96, reported Lemon Grove School District Superintendent Dr. Robert Sutton this week.

He was responding to the April, 1975 special census which compared population changes with the April, 1970 census.

Clerk Learns Cause Of Hard-to-Start Car

There were several reasons why Anita Marie Scherer, a clerk, of 3903 Conrad dr., Casa de Oro, couldn't start her car on January 3.

Inside her car in which she was going to drive to work, she noted that the ignition switch and gear shift knob were missing. A tape deck and fire extinguisher were also gone. Further investigation proved even more disastrous—the car's engine was missing along with the muffler system. She was late for work.

The loss, she said, amounts to $746.

In the census it showed Lemon Grove with a decrease of 903 persons. Spring Valley, same period, increased 3,025.

This week, a forecast released by the Comprehensive Planning Organization listed hypothetical changes in "sub-regional areas".

Using 1973 as a base, population is projected to 1980 and in three increments of five years.

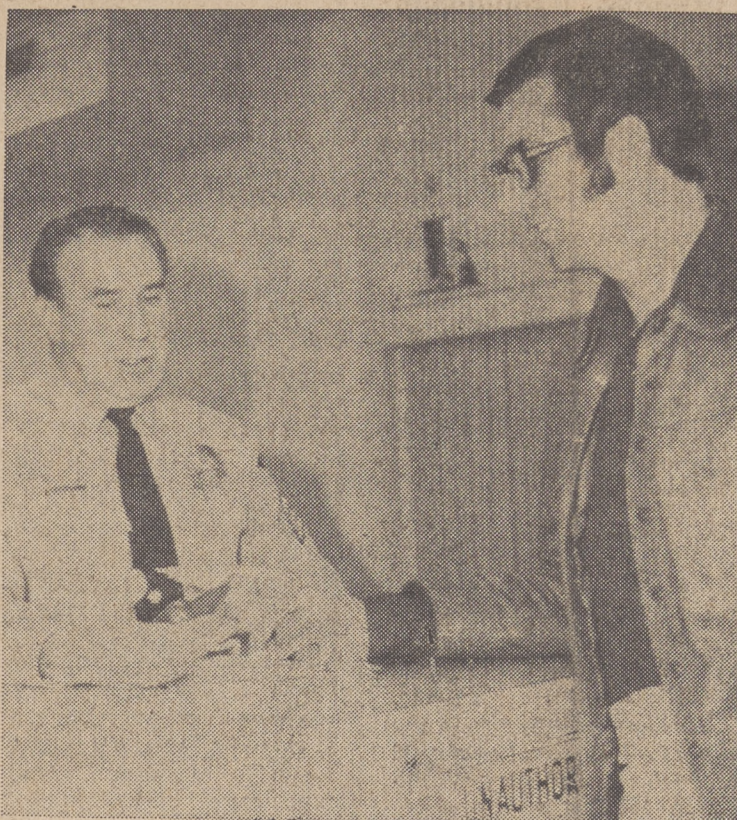

Thus, the following totals will be for 1973, 1980, 1985, 1990 and 1995 and per cent of change.

Lemon Grove—23,500, 27,600, 30,600, 33,500 and 36,500. Change . . . 55.7 per cent.

Spring Valley—34,300, 39,400, 42,900, 53,500, and 62,700. Change . . . 82.6 per cent.

University, southwest of Del Mar, shows the greatest percentage of increase—from 19,800 in 1973 to 95,900 in 1975 up 384 per cent. Following closely is North San Diego . . . up 371 per cent; San Marcos . . . up 314 per cent, and Sweetwater . . . up 286 per cent.

Any argument with these figures. Don't call us. Call CPO at 233-5211.

PROTECTION—The Rev. Mr. Michael Maxson, president of the Lemon Grove Kiwanis club, delivers electric pencils (etchers) to the Lemon Grove office of the Sheriff's Department. The pencils are to be loaned without charge to residents to mark their belongings with their drivers' license or social security number, making the items of little resale value to burglars.

In the picture is Sheriff's Sgt. Robert Torbett, who will arrange for the loan of the pencils. The phone number is 236-2902.

Committee Opposes Main St. Lumber Yard Variance Bid

The County Zoning Administration deferred decision on a request for a variance by a firm which would use the west side of the railroad right-of-way on the west side of the railroad tracks in Lemon Grove. The new hearing was set for January 23.

The area, on both sides of the new Lemon Grove avenue freeway entrance at North and Imperial avenues strings from about 150 feet north of Broadway, along Main st. to the freeway entrance, hopping over the entrance and continuing northerly along the tracks for several hundred feet.

The variance for the area is being requested by Ron Dubois, operator of the Accent Cedar and Redwood company.

According to best estimates, Dubois, under a variance could operate to within a couple of feet of the hard surface of Main st. He already has lumber stacked high in the area for which the variance is requested. The property is on lease from the San Diego, and Arizona Eastern RR.

Chamber Committee Opposes

At a meeting Monday, a committee of the L.G. Chamber of Commerce voted to recommend to Chamber board of directors, to oppose the granting of the variance.

"It is opposite the recommendation of the Lemon Grove Planning Assn," said Chamber President Bob Guest. "The area has been recom-

GUHSD Votes Change in 76-77 Grossmont District Boundaries

School boundaries will change next school year in the Grossmont Union High School District, but the changes will not break any student's school ties nor cause siblings to attend different schools against their will.

Responding to strong student and parent opposition to boundary shifts planned to accommodate overcrowding, board members voted to approve the recommended changes but tagged them with the option for students to remain in their current schools.

Incoming high school students in the affected areas, furthermore, will have the option of attending the school where older siblings attend.

A group of 400 students and parents crowded the Monday night meeting to show sentiment against the changes. Some student and parent representatives were permitted to address the board.

Students complained of broken friendship ties and discussed the problem of read-justing to new schools. Parents expressed concern for the disorienting consequences of a family having to shift their affiliation from one school to another and the possibility of having siblings attending two different high schools.

One parent complained about the use of extended day sessions (classes held in two or more shifts), seen by a board member study as a district-wide inevitability due to growth projections in coming years, even with boundary changes.

Presently only Grossmont and Santana are on double sessions.

New School Needed

Addressing the issue, Superintendent Dr. Leland Newcomer and several board members reaffirmed their view that the district needs at least one new high school and possibly a second and that residents should become active in the pursuit of them. A new high school would take five years to build even if plans were begun today, most board members agreed.

Local Changes

The boundary changes affecting the Lemon Grove-Spring Valley area include: A shift of a portion of the Grossmont High district into the Monte Vista district; two Valhalla segments located north and east of Casa de Oro shifted to Monte Vista; and two areas of the western Monte Vista district shifted into Mt. Miguel.

The changes take effect with incoming ninth graders in the 1976-77 year, excepting those who have older siblings in high school. It was not known at the meeting how the exceptions would affect the enrollment projections.

'Puppet Lady' Scores Victory Over City of SD

Marie Hitchcock, the "Puppet Lady," scored a personal victory over city bureaucracy Monday.

Shadowed by San Diego media support for the Spring Valley puppeteer, members of the San Diego City Council Committee on Public Facilities and Recreation waived a $25 per day fee levied against Mrs. Hitchcock and restored her booking privileges for use of the Puppet Theater in Balboa Park.

Mrs. Hitchcock's problems began last year when she was told that she could no longer book the theater 18 months in advance, her practice for a number of years, and that she would be charged $75 for three days rental of the theatre during a presentation in conjunction of "Finest City Week."

The Puppet Lady, who has performed shows throughout the county for 27 years, was shocked by the new regulations. Councilman Floyd Morrow, chairman of the committee, not only announced the fee waiver and booking privilege but lauded Mrs. Hitchcock for her work in the form of a proclamation.

Spray Painters Busy in L.G.

Persons unknown sprayed the Lemon Grove lemon Tuesday night.

The words "DADA" and "KRISNA" were sprayed in foot-high letters entirely around the landmark at Imperial and Broadway.

Several off-Broadway business buildings have been sprayed in recent weeks. Some of the painting carry the word "Chicano." A Spring Valley firm was sprayed with signs last week.

Callers contacted various news media claiming to be members of a "DADA" movement and one threatened bodily harm to certain Lemon Grove citizens.

One caller told a Tribune reporter that the Sea World tower is a target.

The Sheriff's Lemon Grove office had not received complaints.

H. Griffen Heads Water Board Again

Harry Giffen, Helix Water District president for the past 16 years, was unanimously re-elected to the post during the regular meeting of the Board of Directors last week.

Also re-elected were Bob Rundell, vice-president, and Nat Eggert, secretary. Joan M. Bigger was re-appointed secretary of the Board.

Griffen is treasurer and a member of the San Diego County Water Authority board; chairman of Metropolitan Water District's finance and insurance committee; and executive committee member and past president of the Association of California Water Agencies. He has been a Helix director since 1951.

The new term of office will expire in January 1978.

Off Duty Deputy Saves Lives of 3

An off-duty Sheriff's deputy, Jim Wallis, saved a family of three from probable death by asphyxiation Saturday in Spring Valley.

Deputy Wallis broke down a door of the three bedroom home of the William Mendel family and carried out Mendel, 31, his wife, Marilyn, 26, and their daughter Mary Katherine, 2½.

They were unconscious on the floor of their living room. A neighbor alerted Wallis, who lives nearby. Wallis saw the child lying unconscious on the living room floor. He then broke the door down and carried the three to safety.

He said the family apparently had been overcome by fumes from a faulty gas heater.

Spring Valley firemen administered oxygen and took them to the Paradise Valley hospital.

Doctors said that had Wallis responded 30-45 minutes later the family would have perished.

All three returned home this week and are well and happy.

High School Smoking Issue Delayed 2 Wks.

Trustees voted to table for two weeks discussion of the on-campus smoking issue in the waning hours of the Grossmont Union High School District Board meeting Monday night.

Discussion leading to a decision to maintain the state prescribed code was halted after Trustee William Funke recommended inclusion of Skyline Continuation school in the on-campus smoking ban. Skyline school presently has a designated smoking area.

Trustee Robert Andreen failed to obtain a second for his motion to provide designated smoking areas for all district schools earlier in the discussion.

Local school boards are obliged to make their own rules regarding smoking on campus, as a result of a change in state school policy made last year.

Antiques Taken From CdO Home

Valuable antiques of indeterminate value were taken from the home of Margaret C. Reesdorf at 3224 Bonita, Casa de Oro during the time she was away for a week.

A partial list includes: .32 cal. Colt automatic; 14-place setting sterling silver dinnerware; 12-place setting of sterling dinnerware; silver bracelet and other items.

The thief apparently knew the value of antiques. Left were such items as radios and a television set.

Calendar Outlined

County staff are preparing concept maps based on a study of the VdO goals which were approved by the Committee in December. The maps will be presented at the first of two February meetings on the 4th. CEC sub-committees will examine the maps and make rec-

ENGAGED — Mr. and Mrs. Ernest R. Winier of Lemon Grove announce the engagement of their daughter Elaine to Larry Day, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter J. Day of Jamul. The bride-to-be was graduated from Helix High and Pacific College. Her fiancé graduated from Monte Vista High. A summer wedding is planned at Christ Lutheran Church in La Mesa.

Spring Semester Nears for Feminist Free University

Registration for Spring Session classes at the Feminist Free University is held February 7 from 1 to 3 p.m. at 908 F st., San Diego. For those who cannot attend, registration is accepted by phone, 233-8985, or mail.

There is an optional enrollment fee, ranging from $4 to $10 and levied based upon one's ability to pay. The fee permits the applicant to sign up for as many classes as she wishes.

Since 1972 the Feminist Free U. has provided alternate educational opportunities and experiences for women. The aim of the school is to make women's ideas, creations, work and needs the focus of study and action.

Classes are held throughout the San Diego area in private homes and facilities provided by cooperating agencies.

Area Obituaries

Elaine Ledbetter

Services were held for Elaine G. Ledbetter in her home state Idaho on January 5. Mrs. Ledbetter had been a Jamul resident for 27 years prior to becoming ill and moving to Cambridge, Idaho. She died in a Boise hospital January 3.

Mrs. Ledbetter, 50, served as postmistress at the Jamul Post Office from 1961 until 1975 when she became ill and returned to Idaho to live with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Crist of Cambridge.

Burial was in Cayon Hill Cemetery in Caldwell, Idaho.

She is survived by two sons, James E. Metivier and Donald E. Metivier, both of Jamul; her parents; two sisters and four grandchildren.

Ruth McNeese

Services were held Monday at Greenwood Mortuary for Mrs. Ruth H. McNeese, 69, who lived at 1630 Highridge rd., Spring Valley. Entombment followed at Greenwood Mausoleum.

Mrs. McNeese had been a clerk typist for North Island Naval Air Station. She died January 9 in a hospital.

Born in St. Joseph, Missouri, she had been a county resident 31 years.

Surviving are her husband Samuel J., two sisters and a niece.

Permanent Improvements Seen In ECE Schooling State Report Shows

An evaluation report shows continual improvement in achievement for California school children involved in the Early Childhood Education (ECE) reform, state schools chief Wilson Riles said last week.

Gains Above Average
The annual evaluation by the State Department of Education's Office of Program Evaluation and Research

CYO II Concert Features Young Local Talent

The Civic Youth Orchestra II present its Winter Concert on Saturday at Valhalla High school, 1725 Hillsdale rd., at 2 p.m.

The 59 members range from fourth to tenth graders and come from all over the County. Local members include Barbara Wharff of Lemon Grove and Cathy Withey, Janet Aguilar, Vickie Sutton, Kathy Roberts and Donna Rose, all from Spring Valley.

The CYO II, under the direction of Ted Bietz, will play "Concert for Flutes," by Vivaldi, Third Street Overture by Starer and Concertata by Corelli.

The String Orchestra will play "Under Blue Moon, Hora and Dance of Castanets" by Fletcher, "Chacony" by Purcell and "Prelude" by Gianini.

The Wind Ensemble will play "Prelude and Fugue in G minor" by Bach and "Sonata for Winds" by Charles Carter.

The public is invited to the free concert.

showed that:

"Children in ECE schools, scored above the national average in reading. In mathematics, the scores were at or above the national average."

"Schools involved in Early Childhood Education for two years have not only maintained student achievement gains, but accelerated the achievement gains, based on pre- and post-testing."

In releasing the report, Riles stressed that ECE is not so much concerned with test scores as it is in restructuring, fundamentally and permanently, the way statewide elementary schools are operated.

Standardized tests showed that ECE schools attained reading achievement above the national average on scores in all grades served. Those schools also tended to have higher gain scores in all achievement areas than schools not included in the effort.

One third of the state's elementary schools are now included in the ECE program which began in 1972. Riles, who fostered the program, hopes to have all schools on the plan by the 1977-78 school year.

ECE reform involves a radical restructuring of the primary grades. Some main components:

- Instruction is tailored to each child, based on the prescription and diagnosis made for the child. A "learning prescription" for each child lays out strengths and weaknesses.

- The use of paid aides, volunteers and older children reduces the pupil-teacher ratio to 10:1.

- Parents, administrators, and teachers, by law, must set educational goals for their school and plan ways to meet those goals.

The contention that ECE reform results in a permanent improvement in achievement was upheld in the report by the revelation that schools involved in ECE for two years showed achievement results that were superior to those of schools involved in ECE for one year.

Child Labor Laws Tighten

A new state law went into effect January 1 to protect children from exploitive employment practices.

Assembly Bill 436 provides working youths 12 through 17 the strictest legal protection against exploitations and workplace hazards to date, according to State Labor Commissioner James L. Quillin.

New penalties of up to $5,000 face employers who violate the child labor law.

Among the new restrictions of AB 436, young farm workers are limited in the number of hours they can work and gasoline stations have been added to the list of hazardous work places off-limits to workers under 16.

The new law also allows school attendance supervisors and county probation officers entry into workplaces to inspect for child labor violations. Any violations they find must be reported to the State Labor Commissioner.

California's present child labor laws for those 12 through 17 require work permits, limit the number of hours of work during school day, prohibit jobs in certain hazardous industries and require minimum wage pay.

The minimum penalties for any violation of State child labor laws, considered misdemeanors, range from $100 to $500 per violation. Under AB 436, employers who violate a child labor law can be cited and required to pay civil penalties not less than $1,000 and not more than $5,000 for each violation.

The new law restricts employment in agricultural occupations of youngsters under 18 years of age. They are permitted to work no more than 20 hours in any school week. On a school day, youngsters 16 and 17 cannot work more than four hours a day.

The new law also bans employment of children under 12 in an "agricultural zone of danger . . . on or about moving equipment, in or about unprotected chemicals or in or about any unprotected water hazard."

This Week's RECIPE

Do the Sesame Seed Twist

Old-fashioned, home-made sesame bread twists are a tasty snack to enjoy while frittering away the cool indoor season. They're quick and easy to make and more nutritious than most supermarket snackers. No preservatives added. Just spread sesame batter over rolled dough, cut into strips and twist.

SESAME TWISTS

- 1/4 cup sesame seeds
- 1 cup flour
- 1/4 cup shortening
- 2 to 4 tbsp. water
- 3 tbsp. margarine, softened
- 1/2 teas paprika
- 1/4 teas. salt
- 2 to 4 drops liquid hot pepper

Toast sesame seeds in small skillet or shallow sauce pan. Put seeds in skillet, stir constantly over medium heat until golden brown. Remove from skillet and let cool.

In medium mixing bowl, combine flour, shortening and 1/2 teaspoon salt. Cut shortening into flour with pastry blender until crumbly. Add water and stir in with fork just until dough forms a ball. Roll out on floured pastry board to form 10x14 inch rectangle.

Combine seeds, margarine, paprika, 1/4 teaspoon salt and liquid hot pepper; mix well. Spread sesame seed mixture across long half of pastry. Fold plain side over top of seed mixture to form 5x14 rectangle. Trim the edges to make them even, then cut the pastry into 1/2 inch strips.

Hold one end and twist the other end of each strip, turning about 4 times. Place about 1/2 inch apart on ungreased baking sheet. To keep twists twisted, press each end down gently but firmly. Bake at 400°F for 12 to 18 minutes, or until golden brown. Serve hot. Makes about 20 twists.

The twists can be frozen after baked and cooled. Wrap in freezer paper and use within two weeks for best flavor.

Top Money Player List Grows for AWSDO Tourney

Thirteen more players ranked in the top 60 of the nation for 1975 have been added to the entry list for the ninth annual Andy Williams San Diego Open golf tournament set for February 11-15 at Torrey Pines golf course, tournament chairman Hal Tebbetts has announced.

Previous top 60 entries were Gene Littler, ranked fifth; Dave Hill, 24th; Joe Inman, 41st; and Mike Wynn, 42nd.

Newest entries and their ranking on the 1975 earnings list are Bill Casper, 14; Jerry McGee, 16; Pat Fitzsimons, 20; Miller Barber, 21; Dave Stockton, 28; Don January, 30; Ben Crenshaw, 32; Rod Curl, 35; Bobby Nichols, 46; Mark Hayes, 47; Rod Funseth, 49; Bob E. Smith, 54; and Gary McCord, 59.

Also entered now and also exempt from qualifying are 1971 AWSDO champ George Archer; former PGA titlists Bob Rosburg and Doug Ford; Frank Beard, Bruce Devlin, George Knudson, Ken Still and Phil Rodgers, who were 11th, 26th, 41st, 45th and 46th respectively on the career earnings list through 1975; and Dale Douglass, who tied for ninth in last year's AWSDO.

Casper's $1½ Million Casper, formerly of Chula Vista, completed 1975 as the third all-time money winner in golf with $1,581,606.62 compiled with the help of two U.S. Opens, a Masters and a total of 51 tour wins.

McGee won the Pensacola Open and Fitzsimons the Los Angeles Open last year. Barber was 10th in career earnings with nine tour wins through 1975. Stockton, January and Nichols are former PGA champions, the latter having won the AWSDO in 1974. Nichols is also leading in total earnings for the AWSDO, having pocketed $57,432.68 from seven finishes in the money.

Ben Crenshaw's Prospects

Crenshaw started the golf world in 1973 when he won the San Antonio-Texas Open and took second in history's richest event, the World Open, immediately after graduating from Qualifying School. Although he has since settled down to national rankings of 31 and 32 the past two years, he is still considered one of golf's greatest future prospects.

Curl tied for second in the 1974 AWSDO. Hayes and McCord made the top 60 list for the first time last year. Funseth has been on it nine times over an 11-year span. Smith has made it four times since joining the tour in 1968.

Penrose, Conner: Month's Stars

Already winners of similar honors earlier in the year, Craig Penrose and Dennis Conner have been elected December Stars of the Month by the Awards Committee of the San Diego Hall of Champions.

Latest in a series of fine quarterback plays for San Diego State, Penrose was chosen on the basis of having won the NCAA University Division passing title with 193 completions in 349 attempts for 2660 yards and 15 touchdowns.

He also was named first string quarterback on the Sporting News All-American team selected by professional football scouts, earned a spot on the UPI All-Coast lineup, the PCAA All-Conference team and was picked to play in the Blue-Gray, East-West, and Senior Bowl games. Penrose was a Star of the Month choice in October.

Conner, a Star of the Month in February, repeated in December after being chosen United States Yachtsman of the Year in a nationwide poll of yachting writers.

In 1975 he turned in an impressive record which included victories in SORC competition, the Congressional Cup, and other east coast sailing classics, plus a second-place finish in the North American championships with his Olympic Class Tempest.

Discount Tickets Greet Mariners on Homecoming

The World Hockey Association San Diego Mariners are welcoming the second half of their 1975-76 season with special discount tickets for local fans.

Tonight's 7:30 p.m. Sports Arena game with Minnesota will be highlighted by a Family Nite and Military two-for-one plans. Under the Family Nite discount, adults pay the regular price for their tickets while all children, 16 years or under, purchase similar tickets for $1.

In addition, $6.50 and $4.50 tickets are available on a two-for-one basis at military special services outlets in the San Diego area.

The Mariners list six January games at the Sports Arena in the next two weeks. Following tonight's contest with the Fighting Saints, San Diego hosts the Ottawa Civics, Saturday, Toronto, Jan. 24.

Star Q'backs in AA Golf Tourney

PALM SPRINGS — Four star-quarterbacks who had led their teams to divisional titles in the National Football League hope to lead their baseball partners to victory in the 10th annual American Airlines Golf Classic Jan. 30-Feb. 1 at the Canyon Hotel Racquet and Golf Club.

Tournament chairman Tom Ross Jr. said Ken Anderson, Cincinnati Bengals; James Harris, Los Angeles Rams; Jim Hart, St. Louis Cardinals, and Bert Jones, Baltimore Colts, head the 10 quarterbacks in the 54-hole tournament.

One football and baseball star are partners in this prestigious best ball event. First prize is $10,000, which the partners split.

Two other quarterbacks who almost drove their teams to the playoffs, Joe Ferguson, Buffalo Bills, and Dan Pastorini, Houston Oilers, will also compete, along with Hall of Famer Otto Graham, the great John Unitas, Craig Morton, New York Giants, and Bobby Douglass, San Diego Chargers.

In the nine previous Classics, no quarterback has been able to lead his baseball partner to victory.

Daily ticket prices are $3 for adults and $1 for children under 16. Proceeds go to the United Way of The Desert. Phoenix, Jan. 27, Calgary, Jan. 29 and Cleveland, Jan. 31.

San Diego could be in pretty good health for the upcoming encounters despite the rigors of the gruelling trip. Defenseman Bob Wall has returned to action following recovery from a broken toe and winger Brian Morenz is skating with the team for the first time since an Oct. 16 knee operation. Morenz should be ready for service within two weeks if he continues his present progress.

The Mariners may have found a fourth line combination with the uniting of center Don Burgess with left winger Peter McNamee and right winger Gary Bredin.

If this trio holds together and the last three games of the road junket saw them as one of the most productive forward lines, they would team with the current groups of Andre Lacroix-John French-Wayne Rivers, Ray Adduono-Norm Ferguson-Gene Peacosh and Joe Norris-Kevin Devine-Alec Tidey.

With 41 of the 80-game schedule completed, center Lacroix remains as the club scoring leader with 50 points. Lacroix, who has captured the WHA point crown twice and finished second once in the league's three years, is currently tenth among all team scorers.

Peacosh and Ferguson have 21 and 20 goals, respectively while Lacroix and Adduono both show 36 assists.

'Jaws'—San Diego's New Soccer Franchise

San Diego Jaws. That's the name of the North American Soccer League team which will be playing in San Diego during the 1976 season.

Jaws general manager Paul Deese said that the reason for choosing "JAWS" include the name has become almost a household word since the movie.

The name is sure to be controversial as did the Earthquakes (San Jose) and Toros (Dallas) but it has aquatic overtones which fits in well with San Diego's famous water-related activities, Deese said.

Two of those joining the staff of the Jaws are Michael Cloutier as Director of Marketing and Harry Rivers as Director of Sales.

New Promo Official For S.D. Chargers

Jerry Prosi has joined the staff of the San Diego Chargers as director of advertising and promotions, it was announced this week.

Prosi, 31, worked for the last 10 years for the J. Walter Thompson Advertising Agency in Los Angeles. He specialized in television production and coordinated specials which featured Andy Williams, Perry Como and John Denver.

A native of Chicago, Prosi attended Woodbury U. in L.A. and earned a degree in business management. He was president of the school's freshman and junior classes and intramural council. He served in the U.S. Coast Guard.

With the Chargers, Prosi will supervise advertising for PRO! Magazine, ticket promotions and group ticket sales.

TAKE FIVE

By John E. Wirges

There is hardly a thing you can say about Randall Leo Jones that ain't fittin' and proper for the hearing of old maidens and little kids.

He's a true blue, all-American, California bred Jack Armstrong type that opens doors for ladies, doesn't make funny noises eating soup, is quick as most in picking up the tab and never spits against the wind.

His only fault . . . he's left handed. But with a name like Jones, you gotta have something to set you apart. John Paul had his ships, Buck had his horse and Bobby had his golf clubs. Randy is a "wrong" armer.

He will be quick to tell you that left is right and right is wrong . . . at least, for him. He will also point out that Leonardo da Vinci, famed as artist, writer and inventor, was left handed.

But then, so was Jack, the Ripper.

Emil Giuseppe "Buzzie" Bavasi cares not a fig nor a farthing about either Leonardo or Jack. He never saw either play. Close your eyes and hear his quire. "How good were they? Could they get their breaking stuff over for strikes?"

Leonardo was known for his breakin' stuff and Jack came on heavy with strikes, but none of that has importance here.

The drift of this piece has to do with Randy's left handedness and his approach to golf, a game he says he "enjoys." And that means he plays it well enough to pick up a little "side" money while enjoying the sunshine.

Mrs. Jones favorite portside plays golf right. He stands up there and hits them right handed, just like regular folks. He bats that way, too, but out of kindness here, there is rarely mention of pitchers batting abilities. No need to take up space with things so unmagannimous.

Randy's forte is pitching, and that's what got him into golf. He won 20 games for the Padres last summer and such heroics properly chased him into fame and a slight raise from "Buzzie."

Randy was second in the Cy Young voting and probably would have won had awardee Tom Seaver not played for the Mets, in a town where such things as Cy Young honors are decided.

As befits a star of his stature, Randy was invited and has accepted to play in the 10th annual American Airlines Golf Classic later this month at the Canyon Hotel Racquet and Golf Club in Palm Springs.

It's a fun thing, matching as partners baseball and football stars and sending them out over 54 holes for $10,000.

"I'm looking forward to it," laughed Randy. "It looks like a great week. It's something to do. I'm really getting itchy for the start of spring training. The American Airlines Golf Classic will give us a good chance to get together before the season begins."

That may sound like your everyday, all around Mr. Good Guy, but this Jones boy deals 'em up with a barb on 'em. He, as they say, "comes to play."

Randy just got back from a hunting trip up in Yuba County and says he had a "little" luck in bringing home some ducks. With his ducks pressed, however, he admitted to baggin' 16 and got his limit of pheasants to boot. Seems he's a shooter of considerable ability.

Asked about his golf, he turns a mite shy. He says he probably shoots the game a little downhill from ducks, pheasants and such. "I guess I play to a 13 handicap," he modestly allowed.

"I don't take the game seriously. I look at golf as a way to relax. I just like to get out there and enjoy myself."

That sounds a little bit like a come on, doesn't it. Something like the stranger coming into the club house asking to join your foursome and suggesting you get a little something down to make the game "interesting."

The bait was tempting, but . . . "What about the $10,000 prize money?"

"That looks pretty good," he admitted. "If I get a serious partner, I can get serious in a hurry. We could make a real run at the money. When I'm on my game, I play to a five."

In ducks, baseball or golf, seems like Randy Jones comes up a winner.

'Lemon Grove Night' Ices Local Broomball Teams

It will be "Lemon Grove Night" Saturday January 31 at the San Diego Sports Arena when the San Diego Mariners meet Cleveland in a 7:30 p.m. face-off.

The Night is sponsored by the Lemon Grove Chamber of Commerce.

Highlight of the evening, for many local business and professional people, will be a Broom-Ball game that will be played on the ice between the first and second periods. Broom-ball Team captains have been named by the Chamber. Olin Thompson, Broadway Hardware, will select players for Chamber members north of Broadway. Harry Hinton, a contractor will choose his team from the south side.

Broom-ball is played on regulation hockey ice with contestants wearing gym shoes. The puck is a basketball and the stick a broom with its straws taped together. Teams are co-ed and the number of players varies from five to twenty-five.

Those wishing to watch the double-header may get tickets at the Chamber of Commerce (469-9621), from the office of this newspaper, 7834 Lester ave. (469-0101) or from Thompson, 7846 Broadway (465-6277).

Those wishing to try out with either of the two teams should contact the team captains or the Chamber office between 11-2 weekdays.

Tennessee Stock Racer Says 'They Ran Over Me'

RIVERSIDE — L. D. Ottinger admits he felt foolish a year ago, racing on the Riverside International Raceway road course for the first time in a gamble that eventually paid off with NASCAR's Late Model Sportsman stock car championship.

Ottinger, from Newport, Tenn., finished 10th in the Permatex 200, to which he returns to compete again on January 17, but merely finishing was an accomplishment he remembers as a highlight of his outstanding season. "They ran over me," he said.

"The first time around I had to figure out which way the turns went," Ottinger said. "I only had five or six laps of practice, and I got off the race track a few times. In fact, I spun out during qualifying, but fortunately I was alone on the track and didn't run into anybody."

"When I started the race I got run over. The California guys were so much faster they just ran into the back end of me till I got to learning the track."

'76 To Be Winning Effort
Ottinger will return to tackle the Permatex 200 again in his '69 Chevelle, which he will drive again in 1976 in an effort to win more races while repeating as sportsman champion. Last season he won 14 times in 74 starts but had enough high finishes to outdistance second-place Morgan Shepherd of Conover, N.C., by nearly 2,000 points.

At Riverside Ottinger will be a contender but certainly not the favorite in the race. Other early entries have been received from:

Veterans Sam Stanley of San Fernando, driving a '68 Cougar, and Ray Johnstone of San Bernardino, in a '68 Chevy; San Bernardino's champion Becker brothers, Chuck, Jr., in a '66 Chevelle, Rick in a '70 Nova and Randy in a '69 Chevelle; George (the father) and Ron Esau (one of his racing sons) of San Diego, '69 Chevelle and '72 Monte Carlo; Vince Giaformaggio of Whittier, second last June in the California 100, and Gary Mayeda of Riverside, '67 Chevelle.

Ticket customers for the Permatex 200 will be permitted overnight parking, as is the Riverside custom, so that ston Western 500 on Jan. 18. they can also attend the Win-

Opponents Getting Tougher For Harlem Globetrotters

Victories are coming a bit tougher for the Harlem Globetrotters in the new basketball season because coach Red Klotz of the New Jersey Reds, traveling companions of the Trotters, has come up with some of the best talent he ever has rounded up.

The Trotters and the Reds will do battle twice at the San Diego Sports Arena Sunday, January 25 at 2 p.m. and again at 7. Both appearance will benefit the scholarship fund of Sigma Delta Chi, the society of Professional Journalists.

One of Klotz' new stars is Bruce Davenport, a giant guard who attended Stockton State. The coach rates him a quick, smart ball handler. Also from Stockton State and the U.S. Naval Academy is forward Don Engelhardt.

Klotz is very high on Engelhardt. "He is skilled in all phases of playing his position," the coach said. "He has fluid moves across the key, putting up a soft hook or he can muscle his way in for a tight shot under the hoop."

One of the Trotters' most exciting opponents in many years is 6-6 forward Dale Haase, who attended Kansas U. in Manhattan. Klotz rates him a very strong forward, a fine shooter, particularly from the corners.

The tallest player with the Reds is center Ed Myers, who stands 6-11. He joined the Reds from U. of Arizona.

Sawyer Nears Prime
Returning with the Reds this season is 6-5 forward Sam Sawyer, who appears to now be reaching his prime as a player. He can play any position and is a strong rebounder and a fine shooter.

Sawyer turned down offers from several major colleges and universities following graduation from Atlantic City High School in New Jersey to jump right into pro ball.

Trotter officials report the new season has been huge crowds watching the games. In their visit to Montreal, the court magicians played before more than 17,000, including standing room fans. There was a turnout of 16,000 in Landover, Md., home of the Washington hockey and basketball teams.

Tickets for the Trotters' San Diego game are $4.50, $5.50 and $6.50.

Sportswriters, Sportscasters Sponsor Tourney

A chance to rub elbows and share stories with members of the Chargers, Padres, Mariners and other celebrities will be afforded sports fans Friday, January 30th, at the Sportswriters' / Sportscasters Assn Golf Tournament.

The one-day event will be tagged for the benefit of the S/S/A/ Scholarship Fund at the Carlton Oaks Country Club. Journalism scholarships are awarded each year to deserving students to aid their studies in sportswriting and sportscasting.

Billed as a fun day, the tourney is open to all sports fans for a $25 donation that includes green fees, golf carts and a dinner. Prizes will be awarded in all categories, and tee-off times are available from 11:30 a.m. to 1:00 p.m.

Reservations are available by calling John DeMott at 286-1240 or Ron Reina at 232-2114.

AL'S DAY — Al Geiberger, one of golfdom's nicer guys, was feted earlier this week at La Costa Spa as the "Comeback Player of the Year." He was so named by West Coast sports-writers and the get-together and banquet were restricted to sportswriters.

A crayon drawing by Crosby DeMoss, was given to him by La Costa. Geiberger brings an extra dimension to peanut butter sandwiches because of a systemic deficiency that requires food for energy during the day. He carries peanut butter sandwiches in his golf bag.

Stars to Sparkle at Annual Indoor Meet

Al Franken will present the 10th annual indoor track meet February 21 at the San Diego Sports Arena.

The event, always entertaining and popular, will be sponsored this year by Jack in the Box.

Listed by Franken as some of the performers this year are John Walker, New Zealand Mile champ who will attempt to set a world record in San Diego; Francie Larrieu, holder of the world indoor records for 1,500 meters and one mile; Al Feuerbach, world record shot-putter; Olympic marathon champion Frank Shorter, who will highlight the open version, and Steve Williams, former S.D. State sprinter, will renew his famous feud with Jamaica's Don Quarrie in the 60 yard dash. Both are world record holders.

Dan Ripley, world record holder and Earl Bell of Arkansas State, NCAA champion will bring spice to the pole vault competition.

Stone Is Back
Dwight Stones is booked for the high jump while Bouncy Moore and Arnie Robinson, both AAU champs will take on Randy Williams, Olympic star, in the long jump.

In addition to the world famed athletes will be a full program of high school events plus some junior college features.

The Arena is recognized as having the fastest indoor surface ever constructed. Fans come expecting to be on hand for new records. For example, Jim Ruyan reduced mile time to 3:56.4. In 1974 Tom Waldrop broke it with 3:55.0.

John Walker, signed for the event, became the first to shatter the 3:50 barrier in Goteborg, Sweden last summer on August 12 when he recorded 3:49.4.

Many fans will expect to see a new record in that event

Presents were plentiful under the Christmas trees of California consumers this past holiday season, at least according to Bank Americard coffers.

Bank of America reported that merchants in the state reported a 29 per cent increase in its charge card sales volume in December. Over $222 million in merchandise was bought on BankAmericard credit.

Enrollment Opens For St. John School

A few enrollment openings exist for pupils in grades one through eight at St. John of the Cross School, 8175 Imperial ave., Lemon Grove, according to Sister Mary Incarnata, principal.

Enrollments, this semester, will be limited so those interested should contact the principal at 466-8624 or 462-2462.

The school, last year, received outstanding commendation by San Diego Diocese standards with its well-defined religion program stressing living a truly Christian life among its students in the classroom, at home and in the neighborhood, Sister Incarnata said.

Open-Court reading, spelling and grammar is used. A debate class is open to 6, 7 and 8 graders as an elective.

Calls regarding enrollment should be made between 9 a.m. and 2:30 p.m.

SAN DIEGO GAS & ELECTRIC COMPANY

Pamphlet Describes Fed. Info Outlets

It's no secret that the Federal Government is large and diversified, and that a citizen who seeks a simple answer to a question can sometimes end up on a merry-go-round of referrals.

The San Diego Federal Information Center is one of 37 across the nation which daily help set callers, writers and visitors in the right direction from the beginning.

Federal Information Centers are the subject of a free Consumer Information pamphlet obtainable from the Consumer Information Center, Dept. 78, Pueblo, Colorado, 81009. It lists all of the 37 centers and explains how to get in touch with them.

The San Diego Office is located at 202 C. St., 92101. Phone 293-6030.

If You Believe You've Been Cheated

This column features a series of consumer protection advisories prepared as a public service by the California Trial Lawyers Association to warn consumers of some of the hazards of business dealings.

Consumers are urged to write CTLA for their Consumer Protection Pamphlet which tells "How Not to Be Cheated and Who to Contact If You Are."

The address is at the end of this column.

Many times a consumer will discover, to his chagrin and financial dismay, that despite all the careful consideration and precautions he has taken to avoid being cheated, he has been.

When you have been cheated, your first reaction will be anger. Good. Get angry — and do something about it. Many fraudulent merchants survive because too few people complain when they are cheated.

Following are five steps you should take if you are among those unfortunates swindled, taken advantage of, or otherwise dealt with unfairly by an unscrupulous merchant:

1. First, contact the dealer whom you believe cheated you and complain strongly and in no uncertain terms. Put your complaint in writing. Send copies of your letter to the agencies that deal with fraudulent practices (a complete list of which will appear in the next column in this series). Quite often you can get the matter settled to your satisfaction this way.

2. If your complaint does not produce full satisfaction, you can take the matter to Small Claims Court. This court is available to all consumers for claims under $500. Filing a claim is easy. Go to your local Courthouse where the Clerk will give you a simple form to fill out. The filing fee to sue in Small Claims Court is low, neither side can have an attorney and the proceedings are informal.

3. If you have a private attorney, it might be wise to contact him for advice.

4. If you do not have a private lawyer and wish to acquire one, you may do so by contacting your local Attorneys' or Lawyers' Reference Service, through the local Bar Association, or by contacting the local office of the California Trial Lawyers Association.

5. If you have a low income, you may be helped by your local Legal Aid Society. To obtain a copy of the CTLA Consumer Protection pamphlet, designed to acquaint you with your rights in the law, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to CTLA, 1020 12th St., Sacramento 95814. Please specify whether you want it in English or Spanish.

New On-Call Emergency Team

State Guardsmen Turn Over New LEAF

A force of 1,000 California National Guardsmen, drawn principally from the State's Military Police Battalions is being organized and trained to provide immediate response to virtually every type of civil or manmade disaster, as well as to assist law enforcement officials in emergency situations. The Organization has been formally identified as the Law Enforcement Assistance Force (LEAF).

Emergency Back-Up

Organization of the force was inspired by the Brown administration's concern that National Guard units "be thoroughly trained and equipped to carry out their law enforcement, as well as military mission."

To this end, members of LEAF will be drawn from National Guard units throughout the state, notably existing military police companies and battalions. The men will be trained extensively in civilian Police Officers Standards and Training (POST) procedures and techniques.

The training covers such subjects as dealing with individual civilians and civil populations, detention procedures, citizens' rights and similar matters.

Members of LEAF will be outfitted similarly to civilian law enforcement officers while performing duty. Special badges will identify them and they will carry "civilianized" police-type equipment.

Service Upon Request

"The last thing we look forward to is any situation where we may need to mobilize LEAF," said Major General Frank J. Schober Jr. Commanding General of the California Guard who clarified the new organization at a recent news conference. "But part of our sworn responsibility is to be ready to respond in time of major emergencies, such as uncontrolled fires, earthquakes, floods or other disasters including riot situations."

Major Schober said that LEAF will be deployed only in response to provisions of the state's Master Mutual Aid Agreement, and then only when its use has been specifically requested by local authority and approved by the Governor. When activated, LEAF units will operate within the Guard chain of command but under direction of local law enforcement authority.

Banks Lose 'Fee Exempt' Auto Plates

Banks in California will no longer be entitled to "fee exempt" registration for their vehicles under a new law which became effective January 1.

The legislative change, which was supported by the Department of Motor Vehicles, affects some 3,023 vehicles statewide. Owners will have the usual grace period to February 6 in which to replace the plates, all of which begin with the letters PS.

Public Service license plates originally were granted by State Constitution to banks in 1928 and repealed last year.

Jobs Available in Sheriff's Dept.

The San Diego County Sheriff's Department and the San Diego County Marshal's Office have a number of immediate vacancies for persons who are interested in law enforcement careers.

Minorities and women are encouraged to apply. Interested persons may register with the County Personnel Department, 1375 Pacific Highway, in San Diego, and at the following community agencies: Employment Consortium Project, 1947 Fern St. Suite J, San Diego; Indian Affairs Office, 3250 5th Ave., San Diego; MAAC Project, 825 A Ave., National City; and at Operation SER, 1607 Hoover Ave., National City.

The deadline for registration is 5 p.m. Monday, Jan. 12. Telephone numbers are: 236-2191, 236-4543 or 236-3934.

Santee Man Picked For Planning Post

E. T. "Woody" Miller of Santee, has been appointed by the County Board of Supervisors to serve on the County Planning Commission. Miller's term will expire Dec. 31, 1976.

He was nominated for the position by Supervisor Dick Brown.

Miller has been a member of the Santee Citizens Planning Committee since 1968, and has served as chairman of that organization for the last two years.

He has also served as a member of the San Diego County Charter Review Committee; Gillespie Field Ad Hoc Committee; and the Airport Advisory Committee.

Miller has been a resident of Santee since 1961 and is employed by the Federal Civil Service Defense Supply Agency.

Impact Report Classes Offered

Environmental impact reports are becoming a way of life, but few people understand these documents. A series of Wednesday evening seminars at USD February 4-May 5 is designed to solve this problem.

Dr. Richard Phillips, Coordinator of Environmental Studies at USD, and Professor Richard G. Hildreth, USD School of Law, will conduct the class, along with visiting lecturers.

The seminars are open to the public for a fee of $3 per seminar, $10 per series of four seminars, or $25 for the entire series of 12. The final seminar is free to those who have attended at least four previous sessions.

Reservations may be made through Dr. Richard Phillips, University of San Diego, San Diego, CA 92110, or by calling 291-6480 ext. 229.

Plans OK'd for LM-SV School Operations Ctr.

The architect's preliminary plans for the La Mesa-Spring Valley's School District's Operations Center on the Spring Valley Jr. High School property were approved by the District's governing board Tuesday.

The District's architect Robert DesLauriers, who developed the preliminary plans, is proceeding with the working drawings for the center, to be built on a 10-acre plot of land adjacent to the Spring Valley Jr. High.

The center, when complete, will replace facilities on a central La Mesa property which was recently sold to that city. The center will house buses, supplies and maintenance materials.

Not a Nibble from Auto Dealers for LM-SV School Bus

The La Mesa-Spring Valley School District has discovered that few auto dealers care to enter the bus buying business.

Bids were opened in December for the purchase of one 16-passenger school bus. Two bids were received, both by bus manufacturing firms, but were rejected as administrators at the District felt more effort should be made to encourage local auto dealers to participate in the bidding.

They subsequently sent another request for bids to all bus vendors plus three La Mesa auto dealers who had, according to the District, expressed interest in bidding on items of this nature.

The District received only the two original bids and awarded the contract to United Bus Sales whose $6,692 figure for a 1975 Dodge B300 was $115 less than a quote from National Bus Sales.

Pest Control Trade Prints Free Hints to Home Buyers, Sellers

Long a staunch advocate of consumer education and protection, Pest Control Operators of California, Inc., has published a free folder summarizing pest control industry services available to the public, according to John Morgenroth, district chairman of PCOC, a non-profit trade association.

The information folder, entitled "Pest Control Tips to Consider When Buying or Selling a Home," also offers guidance to consumers concerning the dos and don'ts of pest control services when property is being transferred.

The folder provides helpful hints to both buyers and sellers of residential property covering subjects such as the requirements for pest control inspections, various types of service contracts, how to choose a pest control firm and what regulatory agencies are available.

Sleep Level Linked to Mental Health

It's often been said that nobody ever dies from lack of sleep. Perhaps, but prolonged wakefulness can drastically affect a person's mental and emotional state, reports Sally Ames, sleep consultant for a Chicago mattress company.

She tells of experiments that have been conducted by psychiatric clinics seeking to produce schizophrenic symptoms in normal individuals. To accomplish this, they kept groups of paid volunteers awake for up to six consecutive days and nights.

Without exception, all subjects did exhibit the desired reactions, seeing such things as smoke coming from air conditioners and people who weren't there.

"While it may be true that some people can get along on much less sleep than others, everybody needs his own quota of rest for physical as well as mental health," Miss Ames declared.

Stickers Help Firemen Spot Tot's Quarters

Fire Fighters Local 1434 in Spring Valley is giving away stickers which may one day help save the life of a child.

Successful in other fire districts, as an aid to lifesaving efforts in home fires, the bright-orange, phosphorescent stickers are placed outside a window and on the outer door of a child's bedroom.

The window stickers, explained Orville Williams, Spring Valley fire marshal, eliminate the guesswork for firemen searching for trapped victims in a burning home. Indoor stickers, placed at the foot of the door directly under the door handle, tip off firemen groping inside smoke-filled homes as to where children may be trapped.

A similar sticker for use by invalids may also be provided by the local union.

The phosphorescent stickers are 6 1/2 by 8 1/2 inch oval shapes which show the name "Tot Finders" and a picture of a fireman carrying a child. They may be picked up by Spring Valley residents between 8 a.m. and 7 p.m. at any of the three Spring Valley fire stations at 8853 Troy st., 905 Gillespie dr., and 10102 Ramona dr.

Dear Editor:

Citizens of Lemon Grove will be either sad or glad about the results of the vote in June. When this recent effort for cityhood was kicked off it claimed (nothing new) lower taxes and improved services. New York City received improved services and the costs have resulted in going to the brink of bankruptcy, staggering tax increases and finally need for federal loans.

I believe your paper will be remiss if you fail to provide your readers perspective on this subject of cityhood and its so called tax benefits.

If we are not getting the needed services from the responsible county agencies, we will not receive them from an additional level of politicians and bureaucrats.

The government whether its federal, state, or city, serves first and often only those having the greatest influence. Historically each organization of the federal, state, and local governments, grow larger, costs more and become less responsive.

Let's make the present system work well instead of deluding ourselves that cityhood is going to do it for less money.

Three Rings Taken From Kitchen Area

Three diamond rings valued at $2,200 were taken from the home of Fawnletta Koons of 9240 Harness st., Spring Valley.

The loss, she said, occurred between Thanksgiving and Christmas although she didn't report the loss until after New Year's Day.

The rings were customarily left in the kitchen area and the loss was discovered just before Christmas. The delay, she told officers, was to ask a person who had been in her home during the time if the rings could have been moved. The reply was negative and she called the Sheriff.

Cartoon Creator Gives Animated Talk Sat.

Bob Clampett, creator of cartoon favorites Bugs Bunny, Tweety Bird and Beany and Cecil, attempts to present the "History of Animation," Saturday at 10:30 a.m. in San Diego. The free program for young people of all ages is held in the City College Theatre, 15th and C streets.

San Diego native Clampett worked for Walt Disney Studios, then Warner Brothers and Looney Tunes.

Cecil, a character spawned by an Emmy-winning television puppet show produced by Clampett, will join his creator on stage as he reviews the beginnings of cartoons, the period of live television and the Golden Age of movie cartoons. Clampett's appearance is sponsored by the Office of Community Services.

Old Newsprint Market Improves

Industry reports that newspaper recycling is on the upswing have been confirmed locally by a leading San Diego used paper dealer.

"There has been a strong turnaround in the market for used newspapers, with accompanying higher prices," said Al Strickman of Strickman and Sons, waste news dealer at 372 Fourth st., San Diego.

The newspapers purchased by Strickman are recycled into fresh newsprint by Garden State Paper Co., at its mill in Pomona. A subsidiary of Media General, Inc., Garden State Paper is the world's largest manufacturer of fresh newsprint recycled entirely from old newspapers.

"As a result of the upturn in the waste news market there has been revitalized interest in recycling by individuals, volunteer groups and local municipalities," Strickman said.

"The increase started in early November when we announced a higher price for old newspapers and has been climbing steadily ever since," Strickman said.

At the same time, volunteer groups have been contacting the waste news dealers to discuss activating paper drives.

Strickman said he would assist with details if groups will telephone him at (714) 239-9071. His newspaper recycling center is open from 7 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. weekdays and from 8 a.m. to noon Saturdays.

The non-profit, non-government subsidized exhibit brings the Bicentennial to people who would otherwise have to travel to more than 200 museums, libraries, universities and private collections in 36 states and Puerto Rico.

Included in the exhibits are items from nearly every phase of American life, ranging from a moon rock to a lunar rover; from Thomas Paine's "Common Sense" to Dr. Martin Luther King's vestment robe and Bible; from President Kennedy's rocking chair and an early handwritten draft of his inaugural address to a Navajo sand painting; from Henry Aaron's baseball bat that hit his 714th homerun to Judy Garland's dress from the "Wizard of Oz."

Other memorabilia include Emma Lazarus' handwritten manuscript of the famous poem, "The New Colossus," that appears on the Statue of Liberty; Abraham Lincoln's famous stovepipe hat; Will Rogers' rope; paintings and sculpture by Peale, Sully, Homer, Benton, Sloan, Remington and Saint-Gaudens; Franklin D. Roosevelt's mother-of-pearl cigarette holder; a fingerless baseball glove; original U. S. patent models; a panorama of movies, including the silent screen, the first talkies and Academy Award winners.

Two showcase cars display historically significant relics that include the 1904 Oldsmobile that won the first transcontinental auto race in the U. S. and the Freedom Bell, a double-scale model of the Liberty Bell. The giant bell, 7½

Rain Lag Not Serious Water Supply Problem---This Year

Streams in southern California are flowing below normal and some farmers are turning to irrigation as a shortage of winter rains continues in the state.

No crisis would develop in a single dry year, according to a spokesman at the California Department of Water Resources (DWR), but continued dry weather would create problems in the state's water management.

Reductions in the release of water from central valley reservoirs will continue if the rains remain light, officials said.

Reserves Normal

Lake Oroville was more than 2.5 million acre-feet on December 25, about the normal level for this time of year. The San Luis Reservoir, the other main storage facility in the State Water Project, is at 85 per cent of its 2 million acre-foot capacity.

Stream flows are below normal throughout the state with some in southern California, the central coast and San Francisco Bay as low as 20 per cent of normal flow.

Agricultural sources indicate the lack of rain is beginning to cause some farm problems. Germination and growth of small grains is being inhibited, and livestock are requiring supplemental feed because forage is slow-growing. Dry weather has caused some growers to begin irrigation.

Half of Normal

Average precipitation in California is about 50 per cent of normal, DWR reports. In southern California it is even lower. Rain in Los Angeles is falling at 6 per cent of normal, 8 per cent in Santa Barbara.

In Lemon Grove, rainfall for the season beginning July 1 is about 40 per cent of last year's to-date level. 1.46 inches have fallen thus far, compared to 3.57 inches at this time last year.

Other state levels increase the further north one goes. Rain is 40 per cent of normal in the southern San Joaquin Valley, 60 per cent in northern Sacramento Valley and 60 to 80 per cent in the Sierra.

Only Del Norte and Humboldt counties, on the north coast are recording 100 per cent normal precipitation.

Reservoirs in the San Joaquin Valley do not have enough carryover capacity to last through a dry year, DWR officials say, but ground water reserves are available if needed.
